

LITERARY NOTES.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have in preparation a new edition of the "Globe" edition of Cooper's novels.

Charles Scribner's Sons are preparing a new edition of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge's merry volume of "Rhymes and Riddles."

There is a report in London that Mrs. Lanyer is to give up being a "professional beauty," and return to writing poetry.

Mrs. Emilie Zola's last contribution to Le Figaro begins with M. de Cassagnac, under the same title, "Link and Blood."

Lady Jackson's gossipy volume, "Old Paris; its Court and Literary Salons," is being published in this country by Henry Holt & Co.

The electric light is being introduced into the reading-rooms of the British Museum, and if the experiment succeeds the reading-rooms will be kept open 7 weeks, and possibly until 9 o'clock in the evening.

Three more of the English Men of Letters series, "Simon Johnson," "Sir Walter Scott," and "William Makepeace Thackeray" have been combined in a single number of the Franklin Square Library of Harper & Brothers.

The lectures on "The Relations of Science and Religion," recently delivered by Professor Andrew of Edinburgh, before the Union Theological Seminary of this city, were published in February next by Robert E. Hinde.

A revised and enlarged edition of Schleiermacher's "Myreens" is announced by Charles Scribner's Sons for next month. New illustrations and appendices of much value have been added, and the retail price of the volume has been reduced from $12 to $7.50.

PUBLISH THIS DAY:

PRETTY PEGGY, AND OTHER BALLADS.

Illustrated in Water Colors by ROSINA ENNER.

1 vol., square 8vo, $2.50.

Miss Enner, who will be remembered as having taken the prize for the best design for a Christmas card, has produced a book of striking originality and grace which will successfully rival the books in color of Kate Greenaway and Walter Crane.

The book consists of five old ballads, from the first of which it takes its title.

An interesting feature is the original music of the ballads, which is given.

The whole of the first edition now published has been ordered in advance by booksellers throughout the country, and more than one-half of a second edition, which will be ready before Christmas, has already been subscribed.

Those who wish copies before Christmas will do well to secure them at their booksellers' at early day.

THE MINING STOCK EXCHANGE SALES.

SECOND CALL—12:30 O'CLOCK P. M.

FRIDAY, OCT. 22—P. M.

The mining stock markets to-day were dull and generally moderately depressed. Of the Leadville properties, Chrysocolla was an exception, with an advance to 6%, but Little Chief, Amico, and Climax were about steady. Hukill was fairly active and steady at 1.50@1.49. Battle Creek improved 5 cents to 3.70, but other stocks in the same class were weak. Of the mines, Mineral Hill was the most active, rising 15 cents, from 52 to 67. The market closed dull and irregular.
